LACONICS FOR THE LADIES.

Miss Shears is a dressmaker out West. Nothing tells so much on a man as a gossiping wife.

A female lunatic, in Crawford County, has finished a quilt containing 4,163 pieces.

There is economy in the present style of globular ear-ring. They can be used for croquet balls next summer.

An old woman in Illinois has forwarded ten cents to Washington to pay her share of the national debt before she dies.

Little girls will be glad to hear that Florida has one hundred thousand sweet orange trees and plenty more coming on.

The ladies of Guilford, Conn., are raising money for paving the streets, getting gas-light, making sidewalk, and an iron fence around its common.

There is a Mrs. Pearle in California who runs and manages a farm of 173,000 acres. She grows and does it, without holding any conventions.

A clergyman recently asked a girl concerning her intended: "Is he, in his conversation and carriage, a consistent christian?" She replied: "In his conversation he is very pious, but I never saw him in his carriage."

A Boston paper tells of a man who advertised for a housekeeper about a month ago. He received thirty-five answers. The thirty-sixth applicant distanced the other by taking possession of the house and marrying the man.

The costume of a lady who recently appeared in an Oldie Folks concert in Nashville was taken from the wardrobe of Mr. General Andrew Jackson, the crowning article of which was a huge comb, presented to that lady by the ladies of New Orleans. Besides being richly carved and of pure tortoise-shell, it is further ornamented with an excellent likeness of General Jackson, over which towers the American eagle. Underneath are inscribed the words "New Orleans."

The Science of Health.

In my estimation, said Dr. Everett, in a recent lecture in New York, the Venus de Milo and not the Venus de Medici is the standard for beauty. If a woman stoops, all her organs acquire in time a morbid position. If the chin naturally protrudes, learn to draw it in. Women who stoop and who do not carry their heads erect seldom bear life's burdens heroically. Women should be five feet six inches high; men six feet high. In New York, said Dr. Everett, of women may be met on Broadway only five feet in height, or a little over; some even of more diminutive stature. The Lacedaemonians fined one of their kings for marrying a short woman. Little women should go out of fashion. This physical diminitiveness can be avoided by right methods in the use of food. Although Harvey discovered the circulation of the blood he did not dream of the wonderful circulating apparatus belonging to the stomach, pancreas, and liver. All the blood in the body is circulated through this portion of the system from three to four times in twenty-four hours. I will indicate the spinal column because it connects with the brain, and food must be chosen in reference to the brain. Notice the multitude of muscles in the back. There are seven for keeping the head erect. Pains in the neck and spinal column can be obviated by eating brown bread. As one-half of nervous matter is phosphorus, food must tend to produce phosphorus. I must ease my mind on the question of teeth. Children under 16 years of age should be reared largely on brown bread and milk; then they will possess pearly teeth, brilliant eyes, healthy complexions. Condiments are abominations. Mustard, vinegar, and catsups should be discarded, and salt indulged in sparingly. Sugar and molasses come under the head of condiments. Although some chemists and physiologists advocate sugar as an article of food, yet, because the body makes sugar from the starchy food eaten, the pure article is unnecessary. Neuralgia is an indication of deteriorated blood, and should be cured by eating brown bread, oatmeal porridge—any thing containing much bran.

No variety of wine should be drunk. Ever since the world was created women have been men's tempters, and should avoid encouraging them in the use of liquor. Women who in any sense of the word indulge in alcoholic stimulants seem to lack refinement and true womanliness. Perhaps, because of my Quaker education, I hold this idea. In the good time coming, when women shall live sensibly, dress sensibly, eat sensibly, morally speaking, they will have more influence over their husbands. Perhaps, could we look into the remote causes of the late panic, the fault would be found to lie with those women who did not feed their husbands sensibly. For speculation, for thought, for business, men need the proper kind of food. Let woman feed their husbands on oatmeal porridge and apples. Food should be chosen with reference to the season. In the Spring, vegetables, and in the Summer, fruit, should take the place of hearty food. Men do not wear well in New York; they are at their prime at 35 instead of at 50, because their eating is not properly regulated. It dinner must be served at 6, 7, or 8 o'clock, let it be light, and the heavy meal eaten in the morning. I am not a vegetarian. Vegetarians are often from necessity gormandizers, because they must eat so much in order to obtain a sufficient amount of nutriment. I believe in an occasional piece of good roast beef. Fish is an excellent article of food; but, oatmeal is the food par excellence. The Scotch, possessing the largest brains, the highest degree of intellectuality, and a fine physique, are a nation of oatmeal eaters.

The Postal Laws.

The Morris Jerseyman, in behalf of the "country newspapers," denies that they have asked the franking privilege, or grumbled overpaying postage upon their exchanges. The charging of postage, it remarks, upon their papers in the counties where they are published is not a matter that affects them to any extent. It is paid by their subscribers, and none of the papers, we apprehend, that are worth supporting at all, have lost a dozen subscribers because of the postage being charged upon them. But the people in the country—the subscribers to these papers—do grumble. They reason that while thousands of dollars are paid out of the Treasury for the free delivery of letters in the cities, of which they are compelled to pay their proportion, it was not much to ask that their weekly paper, transmitted but a few miles at no expense to the Treasury, or not transmitted at all, but simply handed to them through the post office, should come to them unasked by the Government. They think that while burdens are imposed for the support of the postal system, the benefits derived from it should be as equally and fairly distributed throughout the country as possible; and as an offset to the large amounts paid to sustain the free delivery in the cities, there is nothing unreasonable in the demand that a free delivery to them of their local paper, from the post office upon which but a trifling revenue is derived and which actually costs the Government nothing at all, should be conceded. And they make a wide distinction between the giving of this right and the restoration of the Franking Privilege, with all its monstrous abuses, and the printing and distributing of cart-loads of useless books that nobody reads and nobody wants, at an annual cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The masses of the people thoroughly understand this whole matter, and many of the Members of Congress will be wiser than they are a year or two hence.

TAKE CARE OF THE MATCHES.—A Great Barrington (Mass.) merchant found a box of parlor matches on the store floor the other morning, which had been knocked off the shelf by a rat or mouse over night. On opening the box the discovery was made that by the concussion every match in the box had been lighted, and the wood of which they were made was charred and turned brown. Fortunately the box was so tight as to smother the fire, and no harm resulted. It was a narrow escape; and if a fire had taken place, its cause would have been a perpetual mystery.
